Hydro One Networks Inc. has applied to the Ontario Energy Board to upgrade an existing transmission line and expand the Runnymede Transformer Station in the City of Toronto.

Learn more.

Hydro One Networks Inc. is asking the Ontario Energy Board (OEB) for permission to upgrade approximately 10 kilometres of 115 kilovolt electricity transmission line and related facilities and to expand the Runnymede Transformer Station. Hydro One Networks Inc.'s application says that the project will connect the Metrolinx Eglinton Crosstown Light Railway Transit system, supply the growing demand for electricity and increase the reliability of service in the west end of the City of Toronto.

Hydro One Networks Inc.'s application also includes forms of agreement that it will offer to landowners to temporarily use their land for upgrading the transmission line.

The OEB is an independent and impartial public agency. It will hold a public hearing to consider Hydro One Networks Inc.'s requests. During this hearing, the OEB will consider evidence and arguments by Hydro One Networks Inc. and by individuals, municipalities and others whose interests would be affected.

The OEB hearing will consider specific issues determined by law. The Ontario Energy Board Act, 1998 specifies the issues the OEB is to consider in making its decision. If you wish to participate in the OEB hearing, it is important for you to understand what these issues are.

As required by the Ontario Energy Board Act the OEB will consider the interests of consumers with respect to prices and the reliability and quality of electricity service.

The OEB hearing is not the only approval process required for this project before a line is built. For example, most transmission lines are subject to the Ministry of the Environment and Climate Change's environmental assessment process. The OEB's review will only address the factors outlined above and will not address other factors, such as, environmental, health, aesthetics or property value impacts.
